Where GAT fits

Fuel and lubricant suppliers

Give each customer a daily tank level report under your own brand, and see which tanks need a delivery before they run low.

Equipment suppliers and resellers

Offer monitoring alongside the tanks, pumps and meters you already sell, as an add-on at the point of sale.

Tank manufacturers

Offer monitoring as a fitted option or a recommended add-on, so your tanks can report from the day they are installed.

Hire fleets

Know where each tank is and how much it holds, including tanks on hire at customer sites.

What customers receive

A daily level report

Tank levels delivered by email each day, with no login needed.

Your branding

Reports can carry your name, so customers see you each day.

Their own tanks only

Each customer sees only their own tanks.

Connection anywhere

Units select between 4G and satellite automatically.

How partnering works

1 Conversation

We learn about your range and your customers.

2 Trial

We provide you with a free trial to put on your hardest tanks, to demonstrate our capabilities

3 Roll out

Units and platform access for your customers, with our support team behind you.

Start a conversation

A short conversation is the best place to start. We would welcome the chance to understand your customers and to show how monitoring could fit your range and help solve your problems, with no obligation. Our dedicated, trained support team will back you from the first conversation, and if you would like, we will support your customers as if they were our own.
